Application

Admission procedure

Specific qualifications are required for admission to our Master's programme. In addition, applicants must take an aptitude test. Applicants should take note of the important dates and deadlines for these.

Students are selected based on a correctly completed and timely application, submission of supporting documents and an admission interview.

Deadlines

Students may begin the first semester of the Master's programme in either the winter semester or the summer semester of each academic year. Written applications and the necessary supporting documents must be submitted to the Admissions, Enrolment and Student Advising Office at Munich University of Applied Sciences between 2 May and 15 June for admission in the winter semester and between 15 November and 15 January for admission in the summer semester.

Qualifications required

The following qualifications are required for admission to the aptitude test for the Master's programme in Print Media, Technology and Management:

1. Evidence of completion of at least six semesters of comprehensive theoretical study in a degree programme with a focus on print and media technology at a German university, or an equivalent international qualification. A grade of at least 2.5 must have been achieved on completion of the programme.

   Evidence of completion of at least six semesters of comprehensive theoretical study in a degree programme related to print and media technology at a German university, or evidence of an equivalent international qualification. The programme must have been combined with relevant practical experience and a grade of at least 2.5 must have been achieved on completion.

2. Evidence of relevant practical experience lasting at least 18 weeks. Practical experience can be accepted only if it was completed outside a university and corresponds to the level of the practical training semester at Munich University of Applied Sciences as set out in the current guidelines. If no evidence of completion of practical experience can be provided, the examination board further specifies that students complete a relevant internship lasting at least 18 weeks before beginning the degree programme.

In compliance with Article 63 of the Bavarian Universities and Colleges Act (BayHSchG), the examination board (§ 8 Master's in Print Media, Technology and Management study and examination regulations) decides on the equivalence of university degrees and the provision of evidence concerning relevant practical experience according to paragraph 1, No. 1 and No. 2 Master's in Print Media, Technology and Management study and examination regulations.

If the qualification requirements are fulfilled, the aptitude of applicants will be determined using an aptitude test.

For more information on the qualification requirements and the aptitude test, please read the study and examination regulations.

Application procedure

The admission procedure involves the following steps:

- a fully completed online application form
- a personal interview

Only those applicants who meet the formal requirements will be invited to an interview.

1. Application

The application must be submitted online. The online application form must also be printed out and sent together with the required supporting documents to the Admissions, Enrolment and Student Advising Office. Click here for more information about the application procedure at Munich University of Applied Sciences.
2. Supporting documentation
The following documents must be submitted as part of the application:

- Officially certified higher education degree certificate including evidence of grades achieved and list of subjects studied. The certificate must indicate the final grade and the number of ECTS points.
  Please note: If the academic transcript from your first degree programme has not yet been issued at the time of your application, you must attach confirmation of examination results achieved. The academic transcript must be provided later at enrolment. Certificates and grade confirmations should be submitted as officially certified copies.

- Certificate(s) from your practical activities (practical training semester).

If any of the above documents are missing from your application, we will be unable to invite you for an interview.

3. Admission interview
Admission interviews take place at the beginning of July for the winter semester and at the end of January for the summer semester. They are held at Munich University of Applied Sciences. Your programme department will inform you in writing of the exact date of your admission interview.

The admission interview takes 15-30 minutes. It will focus on your personal motivation and aptitude for the course, as well as your theoretical and practical knowledge and skills in print and media technology. The interview will be assessed and documented by at least one professor from the Print Media, Technology and Management Master's programme at Munich University of Applied Sciences.

4. Outcome of the admission interview
Applicants will be informed in writing of the final result, i.e. whether they have been accepted, rejected or put on the waiting list. Please understand that no information about the status of applicants can be provided during the admission interview period.

In the event that you are not accepted onto the programme, you may apply again at a later date. A third application is possible only where a written invitation for a renewed application has been issued by the examination board.
